

Show Notes – Episode 4 – Fantasy Me Team Series

QB – Tracy Wells

Tracy is in the middle of 13 kids in the Wells family whom I have known for 18 years. Our friendship began in earnest over 10 years ago when I was her crash test dummy for some training. After my divorce I need a team of professionals at the top of their game to support, encourage and frankly hold me together. The Fantasy Me Team was born. Tracy is the QB and first round draft pick, and longest standing member of the team. She is a Master Stylist and extremely passionate about her craft. She is a blossoming entrepreneur and is chalking up life lessons along the way. She is a daughter of the King and never fails to lift me up. When she is on my calendar that is a good day from start to finish. She is just entering her 30s, but has some nuggets for everyone that she will be sharing today.

Tracy is more than a team member, she is a friend, sister in Christ and one of my favorite humans. We can be totally vulnerable and transparent with each other without judgement. Everyone needs a Tracy. Form your team. Be the kind of person to them that you wish them to be for you. Be kind and love well.

Connect with Tracy:

IG: @tracywells

<https://formastudiosalon.glossgenius.com/>

Thank you for coming to Class. If you could go to whatever platform you listen to podcasts and rate and review Old School with Michele Vrabel, I would greatly appreciate it. Subscribe and click on notifications if you would like to know when future episodes drop.